MAIN STREET PAVING. Keess Street in Condition Which Irri-

There was another talk fest over the Main street paving Monday morning, and a number of prominent citizens got into the game in earnest. Practically the whole street in its busiest section is closed and many business men are annoyed at the condition of things.

things.

George F. Stiles was greatly incensed over the matter and wanted to put an injunction on the work. Mayor Dunn told him that when he vetoed the original project he offered a suggestion to the voters of the town that if they did not wish the paving done they might call a special city meeting, but the men who are dissatisfied with the present condition of things did not take any interest in the matter.

he matter.
The contract stipulates that the job The contract stipulates that the job must be completed within 30 working days and for every day that the contractor overruns he is to forfeit $10 per day to the city. The hitch comes in just here; the contractor is all right and doing a good job and will in all probability complete the job within the time allotted, but the men who drafted the contract were lame in allowing such a broad one. A clause should have been inserted in the contract specifying that only a certain portion of the street could be blocked at a time. There is nothing wrohibitive or restrictive about the contract except with reference to the forfeiture stated above.

Political Small Talk.

Some interesting developments may arise at the republican caucus. With regard to the office of collector of taxes, J. B. Baldwin, the present collector, said Monday that he had collected the taxes and that they had been turned over to the town and that was all that he had to say aside from the fact that he is again in the field and a candidate for renomination, notwithstanding the fact that there may be one or more so-called candidates in the field, also.

Strike is Expected.

It is understood that a strike is to be called this morning on the Joseph Labby job on Jackson street. Joseph A. Martin is the contractor to do the work and has a two and a half story wooden frame building boarded in up to the second story. For more than a week there has been trouble on the job and work has been progressing slowly. It is said the difficulty arose over the employment of non-union carslowly. It is said the difficulty arose over the employment of non-union car-penters. For the past day or two Mr. Martin has had trouble getting help and imported some non-union mer from South Coventry and tried to continue the work. The local union men do not like the way the matter is go-ing and the expected strike today is the result. Mr. Martin is not a mem-ber of the local builders' association.
